BRITAIN ISSUES INSTRUCTIONS

French Warned To Leave Coast

• Told 'Operations Of Capital Importance' Start In 'Due Time'

LONDON, June 8.—(CP)—The BBC broadcast instructions to the French people today to evacuate a broad coastal area from the Belgian to the Spanish border, a strip designated a prohibited military zone by the Germans.

"Operations of capital importance" for the liberation of France will start in due time, said the broadcast.

"It has been shown on several occasions that the presence of the civilian population on the scene of active operations hinders the action of troops, and particularly of friendly troops, in a very grave manner," said the broadcast beam-ed across the Channel in the regular French language news program.

• No Interpretation Is Permitted

British sources said that they could not interpret the bulletin, that it would have to stand for itself.

"The coastal regions of occupied France are likely to become more and more a theatre of war operations," the warning continued. "They will inevitably bring with them the gravest dangers for the civil population."

The BBC referred to "Notice No. 1," however, which was broadcast after the commando raid on the German U-boat base at St. Nazaire May 28, when Frenchmen in that city took up arms and fought for three days after the British forces had departed.

Part of the first notice, as read by the announcer, said: "Your role for the moment should be limited to the care of your own safety. Do everything you can to preserve your own lives. You will be needed by the armies of liberation. We give you formal assurance that when the hour comes to ask for active participation of the French people as a whole you will be warned of it."

• Don't Wait Until Last Moment

"Here is notice number two," the broadcast said. It added:

"Don't wait until the last moment. For those who don't have the possibility to go, we repeat with new insistence some of the instructions contained in Notice number one."

The notice acknowledged that the Germans would place difficulties in the way of the evacuation, but urged Frenchmen to overcome such obstacles. It was not possible to specify either the time or place of contemplated operations, it added.

More 1,000-Plane Raids For Nazis

LONDON, June 8.—(CP)—Col. J. Llewellyn, minister of aircraft production, today pledged more 1,000-plane raids on Germany, the BBC reported.

"The extension of Britain's aircraft industry is not yet complete," Col. Llewellyn was quoted as saying. "That applies to the production of materials, airplanes and engines. We are still building new factories."

Every one of the aircraft used in the 1,000-plane raids was made in Britain. British men and women workers. A large number of the bombers in these raids are the new heavy type. If we had been compelled to fight the war with which we began the war, we could have had more than 1,000."

BELIEVES HIMSELF TO BE NEW DELIVERER

Adolf Hitler Is Not Yet Ready For Insane Asylum

By FREDERICK C. OECHSLINER

World Copyright, 1942, by British United Press

NEW YORK, June 8.—(BUP)—Adolf Hitler is convinced that he is not an ordinary mortal.

He thinks of himself as a leader who has been sent by

Providence to the German people to reshape Europe—and perhaps the world—under the domination of the German master race. With cold, inexorable determination, he intends that nothing—human lives, sorrows or sufferings—shall stand in the way of his plans to trace the world's frontiers and spheres of influence to the pattern he has drawn.

That pattern includes a shrewd, carefully executed scheme to perpetuate the name and face and symbolism of

Adolf Hitler for all generations to come. That is why Hitler:

1.—Had his picture painted with a halo-like glow around his brow after undergoing a plastic operation to give his nose a more heroic mould.

Ever since Adolf Hitler came to power in Germany, Frederick C. Oechslin, Central European manager of the United Press with headquarters in Berlin, has been studying the man at close range, in the series of dispatches starting today, based on information received from Berlin. He has been writing notes on the subject to present it. Oechslin gives an intimate picture of the Nazi dictator. All information in this series has been checked and cross-checked for accuracy. It is not obtainable only through official channels, but through Oechslin, who has only personal knowledge of Hitler's doings. Since his return from Drottningholm from internment at Bad Nauheim, Germany, Oechslin has been decoding the great mass of notes he collected in Germany, and preparing the series.—EDITOR.

2.—Ordered scientists to dissect his brain after death in order that he may give posterity the secrets of his thought processes.

3.—Worked out elaborate plans for his own funeral in an attempt to extract the utmost in dramatic effect from his burial place.

4.—Ordered scientists to measure his skull and features to the thousandth of an inch and prepare a 130-page report on the structure of his head.

These acts may seem to be nothing more than the whim of a man who has so much power that he can indulge himself anything, but actually they are part of Hitler's

Fewer Ships Must Be Sunk If Allies To Gain Victory

This is the fourth of a series by Mr. Hutchinson, who has been in Washington surveying the American war scene.—EDITOR.

By RALPH HUTCHISON

Political Writer of The Vancouver Sun

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 8.—The week-end Congressional Limited, from Washington to New York, was crowded as usual with senators, tycoons, officers, experts. The two men sitting next to me looked like large business executives and their talk indicated that they had dealings of importance with the government. Soon they fell to discussing the war and one of them offered to bet the other that it would be over by Christmas.

The second gentleman would not bet but he said it was pretty sure the Germans would give before next summer. Here, among men who know the present, dangerous mood of the American people—an unsound optimism from last winter's unusual pessimism.

The third gentleman was a member of the cabinet, not a naval officer, but he said he was pretty sure the Germans would not be able to withstand an attack on their ships.

The fourth gentleman was a member of the cabinet, not a naval officer, but he said he was pretty sure the Germans would not be able to withstand an attack on their ships.

The fifth gentleman was a member of the cabinet, not a naval officer, but he said he was pretty sure the Germans would not be able to withstand an attack on their ships.

Women Make 'Wheels-Go-Round' In Wartime Germany

Average Hausfrau Close To Limit Of Endurance: Years For End Of War

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

NEW YORK. June 8.—(AP)—Women make the wheels go round in wartime Germany. With men on military duty from the North Cape to the Spanish border, from the Atlantic seaboard to Soviet Russia, an average woman's domain

The slogan for women in the anti-democratic regime, "Kinder, Kueche, Kirche," which during the 15 years of post-war repudiation administration had given women a place in society, has long been superseded by the Nazi conception of "work, and more work, and still more work," to which many children as possible besides.

Liber is Germany's outstanding woman writer.

During her internment from Dec. 14 to May 12, diplomats, military attaches, and newspaper correspondents to the Nazi court were waging, pressuring and damning because the German authorities simply refused to provide sufficient relief.

RUN RAILWAYS

Women now run the electric railways, often serve as taxicab drivers, carry heavy loads of packages, and do other varieties of men's work at war bureaus in munitions and other war-essential plants, tramway meetings as telephone operators, telegraphers in the country occupied by the German army and even at the battle front.

They render the "peasants' service

In London Blast

London, June 8—(CP)—

Undetected German bomb which lay unexploded caused a blast that wrecked a large section of the Elephant and Castle district of London and injured 19 persons.

Casualties totalled at least 19 dead and 50 injured, while scores of houses were demolished and many smaller buildings damaged.

Searchers probing the ruins for buried victims found a 20-foot crater in a basement where the bomb exploded.

Kind For Kind

President Roosevelt spoke for the United Nations when he warned that if the Japanese persist in using poison gas against the Chinese, or anywhere else, they will get gas in return in plenty of it. This re-echoed Mr. Churchill's view some time ago in respect to Nazi Germany.

In this the Governments of the Allied nations have the full backing of the peoples for whom they act and speak. Abhorrent as this weapon is, the enemy is not to have the advantage of using it without having to pay for it. Mr. Churchill's view Of that the Axis heads may be very right.

The day has gone when humane sentiment in the Allied countries might have revolted at such a proposal. The policy of ruthlessness has hardened the Allied peoples. They are willing to give back whatever the enemy dishes out to them—and to do it a hundredfold.

Many—And Happier—Returns

His Majesty King George VI was 46 years old on December 14th last. But at his request the anniversary is being officially observed this year, as usual, on June 8th, approximately six months after the actual date.

If because of war conditions public celebrations of the event are less elaborate or less general than in times of peace, the anniversary is given its own added popular significance; it could not otherwise have the role which the King and His Queen have played through the tragic months that have gone with honor for them the admiration and peculiar affection, on the part of the people, in every corner of the world, and among men and women everywhere who love freedom and hate tyranny.

Congratulatory messages will reach London from every representative of every nation in the world, those which have banded themselves together to tear the Empire to pieces and destroy the principle of liberty for which it stands; messages freighted with personal regard, as well as formal compliments.

There can be no better measure of the universal esteem in which the King is held by the peoples of all Allied and neutral lands. Countless millions in all the continents will hope that the wishes thus extended may come true, and His Majesty lives to celebrate many more anniversaries, in far happier circumstances.

In The Pacific

If to people living in a broad belt along the west side of North America the war in the Pacific is closer and its threat more grim than it was a few weeks ago, the general atmosphere of the Far Eastern theatre has improved.

Chungking is confident that China's hour of crisis has passed. This coincides with release of news that the greatest convoy ever to leave India arrived some time ago to its troops and equipment have been moved to the danger points.

In a fortnight the Japanese forces in Burma have made no progress in the attempts to invade China and India. In both sectors and in the South China Sea they have been taking a heavy toll of enemy troops and mechanical supplies. For the time at least the invaders on that front have been stalled.

The offensive against Australia has apparently ground down into a submarine war on the supply routes from the United States, without notable success and at the cost of several U-boats known to have been destroyed.

Plans for the expansion program in the South Pacific by the Indians have seemingly been laid aside, and the enemy sea and air forces directed to new adventures in the northern zone. If this brings the war nearer to our shores, there is a good chance that it will cover all the southern area; and it is there that Allied strength is being built up—the blow which will decide the issue.

The Hong Kong Report

Apparently the public will have to choose between the Chief Justice of Canada and Col. George Drew as to whether the Canadian force sent to Hong Kong was properly authorized, organized, trained, equipped and transported. Sir Lyman Duff declared in his official report that he found no evidence of any "well-conceived" or "body-managed" Col. Drew says the whole affair was "bothered and bungled" from start to finish.

The Col. is in the position of the lawyer who has failed to convince the court about the case for not being convinced. This is so typical of Col. Drew on any matter touching the fringe of politics, that it will cause neither surprise nor alarm. It is precisely what that gentleman was aiming at when he and his observations may be rated according.

The relatives and friends of the men who were sent to Hong Kong, and the public at large, are assured after a most thorough examination of documents and persons, that the Col. would be sent to send the force there, that it was full and well organized, and that its full and proper equipment was provided for, that it was safely transported; and that the failure of its complement of mechanized vehicles to reach their destination was due solely to the sudden attack launched by Japan, which caused the United States ship carrying these vehicles to be ordered to stop at Manila instead.

The loss of the two regiments was a disaster. But Sir Lyman Duff says it was not a disaster caused or contributed to by inefficiency anywhere along the line.

British forces in Madagascar shot a couple of Japanese officers who were caught prowling about the island. A protest from Vichy may be expected in due course.

Mr. Lochner, who should know if any outsider does, says "It's revolting down and belts off for any general or field marshal who wants to see Hitler". And nobody can blame the Fuehrer for making his intentions clear to the German general in the interview. Generals of the old school have plenty of reason to want to get rid of the corporal who has vaulted into the Kaiser's place. They have seen some of their number done to death under suspicious circumstances, and themselves have been aided by boys who were sucking bottles while they were leading armies. Adolf rightly suspects that these men might think their own safety would be improved by his taking a hand. Forgetting the attempt that was made to bring him to pieces in the beer cellar, and which was certainly engineered from the "inside".

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1892—50 Years Ago

Three bulls, head chief of the Blackfeet, is dead. He was the successor of his brother, Crowfoot.

The recent Government sale of town lots in Canmore, Rocky Mountain park, was a fizzle, one only sold.

Philip Ottewill of Clover Bar has 130 acres of land in crop season.

Father Lacombe organized the recent epidemic, excepting in Northern Alberta, that has been the church's single first-hand knowledge of the country toward which he is trying to direct the stream of immigration which now flows from the eastern provinces to the United States.

The grading of Namayo avenue is about completed.

1902—40 Years Ago

A contract has been signed with the Robb Engineering Co., for two boilers and an engine for the city power plant.

The railway connection from Strathcona has been completed, but the connection with C. & E. has not been made, and no attempt to open it has been made. It is time to ask whether the agreement with Mackenzie and Mann means anything.

A deputation from Red Deer, representing the citizens of that city, has asked the government of that place will visit Edmonton for the purpose of holding a conference with representatives of the Canadian government to discuss best means of bringing the attention of the Dominion government to the condition of the roads in northern Alberta as a result of recent rains.

1912—30 Years Ago

The 38th annual General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in North America met in First Church, Red Deer. Mr. McQueen was elected moderator for the ensuing year.

Winnipeg: Magistrate McMillan started his court in the new building at 10 a.m. and declared unequally that Japan was to pull out.

The personal standup of Western Canadians, the immediate cause of the strike, was the significance of this attack.

What did the Japanese mean? What did they portend?

What was the extent and scope of them?

The question was asked frequently in Edmonton, and the city would eventually come to a standstill over the Japanese threat.

What did the Japanese mean? What did they portend?

What was the extent and scope of them?

The Japanese threat was made to all the world, and Britain undoubtedly assumed responsibility for Japan's bombs.

Harold L. Weir

The answer seems to be abundantly clear.

But the Japanese are able to establish an air base on this continent, this city is in a position to defend itself.

Japan, unlike Japan, would undertake any such major move against the might of this continental naval power as the British naval power.

Or, if that is the case, the city would eventually come to a standstill over the Japanese threat.

That is the war that the war is enlarging rapidly beyond the capacity of man's imagination.

Anything, literally anything, may happen now.

Three days ago, I said on this broadcast that an attempt might be made to invade the coast of North America with the knock-on effect that would be plunged entirely into the war.

And that is just what Japan would undertake any such major move against the might of this continental naval power as the British naval power.

Bill Cunningham's Column

NEW YORK, June 8.—(UPI)—The most absorbing study in extremes in the baseball front in years is found today among the otherwise too lack-luster records of Chicago's too, too melancholy White Sox. It involves a pair of pitchers and the relative quantity and quality of their luck. The names are Edgar Smith and Joe Hayes and the story is weird.

Edgar Smith is a comparatively stout and stocky young man who won 11 games for the Sox in 1940 and 13 more last season. One of Connie Mack's many discs, he isn't a spectacular performer, but he is steady. Normally, he might be expected to win himself at least a dozen triumphs this season. Instead, he hasn't won any. He had lost nine consecutive games.

Joe Hayes is a cleft of a different cut. He is tall and thin and last year he didn't pitch at all. He is a knot in his arm. Manager Jimmy Dykes took him along in the belief that he might develop, but he didn't expect too much. Well, to keep the story as brief as possible, Hayes to date has won five games. More important, he hasn't lost any.

Luck Versus Ability.

It is a simple truth. This obvious conclusion derives by the innocent and not-so-innocent bystanders is that Smith has lost what makes a man a good pitcher and that Hayes spent the winter plucking four leaf clovers, studying hypnotism and mastering the devious ways of black magic. That is the quick conclusion—but the wrong one.

Actually, the difference between the young men is one of luck rather than ability. Haynes' luck has been so phenomenal that he is wasting his time. Instead of pitching he should be buying lottery tickets. Smith's luck has been so unpredictable that he couldn't win a bingo if he bought every card in the game.

Consider Haynes first. The 24-year-old virgin has appeared 10 times in the major leagues and has given up only one run in that stretch and during the 13 innings he worked to win his victories he gave up only five hits. That is impressive pitching. But a more impressive fact is that during his 13 innings his mates scored 24 runs for him. That represents an average of 17 runs per game, or the normal Sox average for a week.

Great Success as Reliever

HAYNES started against Boston May 13 with the score 0-1. In eight two innings later the Sox won, 2-1. Three days later he went in against New York in the eighth and in a single inning the score was 4-0. On May 21, 25, Cleveland beat Chicago, 7-4. In the fifth, Jim O'Conor took charge and Chicago, 5-7. On May 28, St. Louis beat the Sox, 9-8, in the eighth. Again Haynes was called on for relief, and Chicago scored nine times for a 12-9 triumph. On his last outing, he entered the game with Detroit and the Sox tied at 5-5. Three innings later, Dykes' men won, 12-5.

That's the happy side of the tale. Now take a quick look at Smith. Edgar has pitched 79 innings, losing in nine of 10 appearances. His earned run average during that tenure is approximately .34, but over the same period his mates were able to exactly 15 scores. Compare this 17 average given him with the 17 average given him.

Smith lost to Cleveland on April 17, 1-0; to Detroit on a week later, 2-1, and to Washington on April 28, 4-3. The Yanks whopped him on May 3, 6-4, and the Browns nipped him on May 10, 1-0. On May 21 he took the Yanks a second time and lost, 1-0. On May 28 Cleveland broke his heart, 2-1.

Smith Getting Jittery

THAT accounts for seven of Edgar's nine defeats. Since May 26 he hasn't been quite the same. He blew what was left of his nerve when he was given last Saturday while opposing Detroit and lost, 9-4.

Friday he was so upset that the Yanks plastered him with an eight-run explosion in the second inning. His own error cost him five of the eight tally.

Just when Smith finally will win a game is about as puzzling as when Haynes will lose one. I can't answer either of those riddles, and wouldn't if I could. I wonder what Mr. Hayes and Mr. Smith talk about when they sit face to face in the dugout or in a Pullman car. Whatever it is, I'll bet it isn't baseball.

39 Shutouts For Yankee Ace

Red Ruffing Reaches Goal Of 250 Baseball Victories

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—Charley (Red) Ruffing, dean of the New York Yankee pitching staff and winner of more games than any other major league hurler, reached the 250 mark Saturday when he tossed a fancy four-hitter at Cleveland for a 3-0 shutout.

Joe Gordon helped the Yankees reach the plateau because the first ace pitcher to become the 250-game winner and boasted his own hitting streak to 22 consecutive contests by driving all the runs home with his hitting double with the bases loaded. Ruffing has 121 games.

The victory was the sixth of the year for the 34-year-old Ruffing, who had won 24 games and lost 10 in 18 previous seasons with the Yankees.

Ruffing also leads the major leagues in shutouts and strikeouts. Last night he reached the 30th of the season and the 30th of his career, two more than the National League leader, Brooklyn's Larry French.

The 34-year-old Ruffing became

Bobby Jones Does Five Under Par In Hale America Golf

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—Bobbie Jones, the world's top golfer, off as he set the pure Sunday for the Hale America National open golf qualifiers at eight courses scattered throughout the United States.

Yesterday he and a squad of 100 of the 103 contestants who will compete at Chicago June 18 to 21 for the Hale America title of the New Jersey State and the national amateur. Los Angeles qualifying starts today.

Jones, though exempt from qualifying, played the East Lake course at Atlanta, Ga., for fun and funnily enough had a 79-90 card to his credit. He had a 77-85-86-86 total of 268 and a six-stroke edge over his nearest rival, Buck White of Memphis.

George Winterton, former Labor M.P. for Loughborough, died in Cheshire, England, at 66.

Henry Martell Again Sets Hot Pace In Highlands Golf

Henry Martell, making a strong bid for another title, led the qualifying round for the club championship out at the Highlands Golf Club on Sunday afternoon when he posted a dazzling 69, exactly three under par for the course.

Tom C. K. Huvalke, J. S. Brandon, A. G. Smith, Doug Williams, C. E. Campbell, F. J. Wiles, E. J. Johnson, F. J. Wolfe, Alex Hutton, W. E. Clarke, E. Wood, L. A. Gross, Ken Jennings, E. B. Rice, H. T. Anderson, W. Hobden, A. Wootton, A. J. Reid, Cliff Manning, G. G. Johnson, Red Jennings, J. A. Devin, Ginn Wilson, Roy Kay, P. Olynyk.

Martell was really hot yesterday. He was out in 34, one under par, had six birdies, one eagle, one return clipping two off by turning in a 4 under par.

Henry's card reads as follows:

Put	4-3	4-3	4-3	4-3	4-3	4-3
Cut	3-4	4-4	4-4	4-4	4-4	4-3
Par	5-4	5-4	5-4	5-4	5-4	5-3

The 11th pitcher of modern times to win 250 or more games, although seven of the others won 300 or more, Ted Lyons of Chicago, while Rossie is Ruffing's closest rival among the active pitchers, having won 202 games.

Red Ruffing, 34, is the 250th pitcher to have won 250 or more games.

Henry's card reads as follows:

Put	4-3	4-3	4-3	4-3	4-3	4-3
Cut	3-4	4-4	4-4	4-4	4-4	4-3
Par	5-4	5-4	5-4	5-4	5-4	5-3

Burke Martell was unable to take part in the play this year. All with 94 putters of 94 better qualified.

Playing is the list of those qualified for the championship flight:

H. Martell, E. M. Hall, G. Glass-

City Commissioners Selection Goes Before City Council

Supt. Matthew Blackwood Is Appointed New Chief Constable For Edmonton

Appointment of Staff Superintendent Matthew Blackwood as chief of Edmonton's police force to succeed Chief A. G. Shute will be reported by the city commissioners to city council at its meeting to be held Tuesday evening. Chief Shute is retiring on pension June 30.

In announcing the appointment Supt. Superintendent Blackwood said that the appointment had been made after a very careful study of the qualifications of all men in an active capacity only. Decision as to permanent appointment will be made later.

Staff Superintendent Blackwood joined the police force in 1912, and was appointed senior inspector in 1920. He was appointed uniform inspector and was inspector of detectives from 1920 to 1925, being the appointed deputy chief constable, a position he held since.

FINE RECORD

The records of the council points out that Shute had a clear record during his whole period of service.

Retiring Chief Constable Shute celebrated his 31st anniversary with the city police force on April 21.

It was on that date in 1911 that the chief constable completed his first year with the force as a member of the Edmonton police force.

He was taken to the wooden barracks on 10th Street, and the force and shown the limits and boundaries of covering a beat.

At that time the force consisted of only 22 men, but one year later there were 100, and the force had grown to about 100.

APPOINTED CHIEF

He joined under Chief Constable George E. Shute, who died on January 21, 1920, succeeded Chief Constable George E. Shute.

Inclusion of the chief will be Miss Anna Neagle, British stage and grand old man of the stage, Sir Cedric Hardwick in private life and an establishment man.

John Kettell Johnson, his own opposite Katherine Cornell in "Doctor Dilemma," and Sir Robert Peel, who had special leave to star in "Golden Wings" in New York.

Others are John Gielgud, who played "Wings" and "Time To Come"; Richard Thiman, star of the British Russel de Monie Company; and Sir Cedric Gibbons, of the Metropolitan Opera Company; Alfredo Kraus of New York and Sir Cedric Gibbons recently played opposite Paul Muni in "Yesterday's Magic."

He was promoted to sergeant one year after he joined the force and continued on Page Sixteen

Getting Around With Jack DeLong

We asked our barber if grey hair is really a cure for grey hair.

"Certainly there is," came the cheering reassurance.

"What is it we demand?"

"Don't get grey hair," was the reply, that dashed our hopes from the lofty pinnacles to the earth.

After recovering from the early disappointment, we started to look for our barber friend with great enthusiasm.

He saved us a lot of money that we easily have gone for miracle cures, lotions and tonics and the like.

And when the Vitamin B. complex re turned in the form of bras or yeast the grey hair "grew out" and the nice sleek black kind.

An intensive search brought forth proof that the antihair factor, which is rich in the B. group, was the vitamin of the B. group.

Well, after having such good results with the B. complex, we tried them it on a group of men and women. It was found that 80 percent of those treated with pantosytes responded positively and favorably.

The scientists failed to warn that the does not seem likely than the men.

But, just in case you are starting to get a few frosty hairs, here is a simple remedy that is rich in pantothene acid:

Liver, egg yolk, molasses, peanut oil, whey, buttermilk, sweet potato, eggs, milk, bacon, ham, onions and kale, with other elements of a well-balanced diet.

The beauty of the diet is that it is not too expensive, like the ones on the rationals, on this con-

Debunker

Stories of wheat found with Egyptian mummies, after thousands of years of embalming, being planted and growing, are unscientific. Innumerable attempts by scientific men to make wheat grow from ancient mummy wrappings have failed. There is not a single case of such growth that has ever been authenticated. It is a pity for the ancient Egypitans grew marvelous wheat.

What To Do

An shower of presents ever goes to a bride, and her golden wedding anniversary.

Answer—A shower of this nature is a very good idea—but it should be much more formal and ceremonial than usual brides' showers.

A dinner is usually given. This can be held at a hotel or restaurant, or at the home of one of the children. The decorations and favors should follow the wedding theme—white and gold.

Gifts may be given singly or one important gift may be presented by the entire group.

Friends and relatives are invited and, of course, their children and grandchildren would be present. All the wives of the bride and wife should be invited. —V

Fruit Dressing

For fruit salads a French dressing made with a fast fruit juice, instead of vinegar, gives subtle flavor. One lime juice is a substitute. It should be used in these proportions: one part lime juice to two parts salad oil. Salt, sugar and nutmeg are added to taste. Shake or beat the mixture until it is of light cream consistency. Lemons or pineapple juice are also good substitutes for vinegar.

McCoy Health Service

An abdominal rupture or hernia is usually preceded by a general weakness of the abdominal muscles and is brought on by an effort being distended with food or gas by a sudden strain resulting from lifting or carrying heavy weights.

It may be possible to cure a hernia that has not progressed too far by resting the internal organs for a time, then gradually working back to their old homes with their babies to stay with them until the war is over. Every train is crowded with mothers carrying their babies back and forth all day, carrying warming up bottles of fetching bottles off the shelf, crossing oceans from sudden death when they stop.

round. And the tight punctured bodies who wanna drink of water.

The tired young mothers carry back on, trying to keep the babies from crying. They are amused, trying to keep Johnny from smearing his belly over the floor. They are the ones who cross the aisle, trying to forget the look in the eyes of the husband who is looking at them as they are starting for the door, not where to go for them not what length of time they have to go.

"Oh, sure," they have said, biting back their tears, "we'll be all right. You know we'll be all right."

Mom and Dad are crazy about our coming to stay with them for a while. They know we are their grandparent's grandchild. It will be lots of fun all being together. Just like old times.

They are the ones who will be fine.

But, another mother how courageous our young wives have lied to keep their husbands morale up and make the parting less bitter.

They are the ones who will be fine.

"Setting Up" exercises. The most beneficial are those while lying on the back, feet up, and the abdomen is raised so that the abdominal contents will be carried by gravity toward the chest. These exercises are to be done in the morning and at first must be taken carefully, with each one being done only a few times.

The patient should also start in to develop the abdominal muscles by doing the following exercise:

Skim the abdomen in half crosswise, almost a water until almost tender, and drain. Remove the centers without disturbing the skin. Then add the following to the water to make sure that the large intestine is kept comparatively dry, which will turn prevent constipation.

A rupture should not be allowed to continue indefinitely without some effort being made to overcome the possibility of strangulation. If you have developed a rupture, the best plan is to consult your doctor and make the necessary examination, he will advise you as to the best measures to use.

"Nerves" Can Be Changed Into Assets

On Bridge

I went to Syracuse a short time ago, to meet with an enthusiastic group of bridge players who were already making plans for the fall session of the national tournament, to be held at the Hotel Onondaga the first week in December.

Indeed, Mary freya over every trifle—John overrids her hand, and North might be unable to avoid losing a club plus the adverse ace. Her expectations were correct.

That of hyacinths has become the care of Britain that Glendale

Yard has set up a special branch to handle cases.

Our leaflet, "How to Win Business," may help those who could learn business from their nervous energies constructively.

Don't interfere with Mother's housekeeping. It irritates her just as much for you to stick your nose in her affairs as it does for her to have a hand in yours.

Don't pooh-pooh and scorn all her efforts to help you. She is the last opinion of all this talk about nutrition and balanced diets, but she means it.

She is the one who is the best guest to have in your home. She guest has to earn her board and keep by making herself agreeable.

And be gentle. Never say expletives and words of abuse. Show appreciation of the generosity of our fathers and mothers who have given us their homes and their love. Yet they could be happy too. If they are a charming pair—if they have a sunny place to sleep in and are perhaps, spending their time together for their old age so that you and your children may lack for nothing in food and clothing.

All that I have said goes double for the daughters-in-law who are likely to want to live with their husbands' people. —V

Washing Chiffon Spreads

If you wash your chiffon bedspread in an electric washer, especially if it is heavily soiled, try first putting the spread into a plastic case, then washing the entire case in the washer. This procedure should prevent the tufts shedding excessively. Otherwise, soak the spread in warm water.

Then lay the spread flat to dry. If the spread is almost dry, shake it vigorously to free the heavy tufts. If the day is a little windy, so much the better.

Shed A Tear If You Don't Relish Onions

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Onions are a good low-cost source of vitamins and minerals. They also add to the diet.

Mrs. Frances Foley Gannon, director of New York City's Bureau of Consumer Services, gives these tips on onions:

Choose those that are bright, clean and well-shaped. Dry skins are better than green ones.

Trim the onion so that the root end is not fibrous.

The next thing to do is to avoid all gas-forming foods, such as beans, cabbage, etc.

FAMOUS RIFLES SMASH NAZI MACHINES

Anti-Tank Guns Play Big Part In Russian Offensive

Here is one reason why the Russian army is storming through the German lines in the Kharkov section. These highly trained Russian troops march past in review before going to meet the German spring "offensive." The now famous anti-tank rifles they carry are partly responsible for their successes. Hundreds of shattered Nazi tanks strewn on the roads and fields around Kharkov bear witness to the efficiency of this rifle. Hitler's weapon, the tank, will be turned against him soon and the perfection of anti-tank weapons by the United Nations has made that possible.

Unbelievable as it sounds, Phyllis Ruth seems to be overlooked by her studio, but not by photographer who must have enjoyed his work when he snapped this one.

Tousle-haired, this fighter pilot gives his smiling King a first-hand story of the fighter sweep over Nazi territory from which he has just returned. The King saw both the beginning and finish of a sweep at this air station one day. The British hope soon to be able to send 1,000 planes a day over Nazi areas.

Snow Maidens

Faye Emerson and Alexis Smith—brunette and blonde—pose with skates, skis and accessories in the snow high over Hollywood. Faye, who hails from Louisiana, will be seen next in Warners' "Juke Girl"; Alexis, whose home is in the State of Washington, in "The Constant Nymph."

The two are devoted friends.

Soviet Gunner Gets 8th Nazi

A sharp shooting anti-aircraft gunner is Lieut. N. Kuller of the Soviet army. That is he standing in the snow, a broad grin creasing his face. Behind him, its tail high in the air, is a Messerschmitt 110, the eighth victim of his deadly aim with the A.A. gun.

Red Air Force Planes Blitzing The Blitzers

Russian Bombers Blast Nazi Tanks In Front-Line Duel

Russian planes rocket over a battlefield in the midst of a duel with German tanks, several of which are burning fiercely. According to Russian caption on the above photo, the German tank column was annihilated. The action may have occurred in the Reds' battle to capture Kharkov.

Commando Raid Simulated In Assault Manoeuvres Overseas

Canadians Go Through Realistic Training For Eventual Attack

Red Cross Is In Front Line

The front line in Britain is everywhere, and there is found the Red Cross, operating with swift and sure hands wherever suffering and pain are found. This babe, bombed from her home in Norwich recently, will be taken care of by the Red Cross, which asks $9,000,000 here and now.

First A.E.F. Bride—In Iceland

Official Gives Pensions Data On City Visit

Making an inspection tour of Western Canadian rehabilitation and national health and pension offices, Mr. W. Woods, assistant deputy minister of national health and pensions, arrived in Edmonton Monday morning, accompanied by W. R. McLaren, regional officer in charge of rehabilitation and with Dr. C. E. G. McLean, director of pensions and national health branch.

Accompanying Mr. Woods is E. B. Gossman, of the Civil Service Commission, Ottawa. They will conduct their service inspection here for the purpose of superintending educational and vocational services, and also the post of supervising the pension office.

Mr. Woods stated that many measures have been passed by the Dominion government to take care of men returning from the war.

Among these are the rehabilitation grant of 30 days pay for men with more than six months service. This pay includes the dependents allowances, for family at any time in hospitals of the pensions division, and the same allowances related to service, and also free hospital treatment for any remediable condition, including active hospitalization arising from one year of discharge.

IMPORTANT MEASURE

Another important measure is that which requires employees subject to certain reasonable safeguards to retrain employees who left their employment to enlist under conditions not less favorable than those which would have been applicable had enlistment not been taken.

The Unemployment Insurance Act is made available to all discharged persons who enter insurable employment. Our work benefits, similar to unemployment insurance benefits, are payable to discharged persons who are capable of entering insurable work if no work is available for a period not exceeding their length of service or up to six months.

TRAINING AVAILABLE

Vocational training is available to all discharged persons who have no previous training or need a brushup in their trade. Maintenance benefits on married and single scale may be paid during such training.

Benefits similar to out-of-work benefits, including maintenance limitations, may be paid to those engaged in farming or other business on their own account while awaiting returns from their enterprise.

DETERMINING FACTOR

Maintenance training and student fees may be paid to men who resume education which was interrupted by their enlistment. Students are required to enter a university within 15 months after discharge.

Disability allowances or pensions arising from or connected with an aggravated disability service, personal or otherwise, are payable in a theatre of actual war, and any disability arising as a direct result of the war, regardless of where the applicant served. Advocates are provided to assist claimants in presenting their claims.

A welfare division of the department has been established with offices situated in all main centres throughout Canada, to assist former members of the forces in becoming acquainted with the laws, give them on legislation affecting discharged persons and also with respect to their individual problems.

A veterans' land settlement measure is now in the process development.

Heavy Explosions Heard Near Sweden

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—The Moscow radio, in a broadcast heard here by CBS, quoted yesterday a Stockholm report that "tremendous explosions were heard just behind the Swedish border in Stromstad and other towns on the southern coast of Sweden."

The shocks of the explosions continued through the night and the noise was heard even in Göteborg, the radio said, adding that it was with out any doubt due to the cause mentioned.

A veterans' land settlement measure is now in the process development.

Check-Up Asked On Draft Deferments U.S. Civil Servants

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—Chairman Millard Tydings of a special Senate committee recommended yesterday that the draft deferment service system check up on draft deferments given 1,600 young men employed in the defense industry by government. Commenting on the results of preliminary investigations he said: "The record of the government privilages has been judicially used by most agencies of the national government but the abuses we have found stick out like a sore thumb."

From their special "invasion barge," tough British commandos land back in England, after their sudden "hit-and-run" raid on the Boulogne-Le Touquet area of France.

Importance Of God's Leadership Stressed At Railmen's Service

Many Present Funeral Service Dean J. A. Weir

Attended by a congregation that filled every available seat and included representatives of all railroads, the funeral service was held at Holy Trinity church on Sunday afternoon.

Dean J. A. Weir, of John Alexander Weir, B.A., LL.B., M.C., dean of the faculty of law, University of Alberta, died last Wednesday.

Following a protracted illness, there were present, members of his family, relatives, friends, and the community of Alberta, with whom Dr. Weir had been intimately associated for his daily life for 21 years.

He was born at Lethbridge, Alberta, and educated at the University of Alberta, and was a member of the Alberta Law Society.

He was a member of the Royal Canadian Legion, and the Knights of Columbus.

He was buried at the cemetery of the Holy Trinity church.

Services were held at the University of Alberta, and the Rev. W. M. Naimby, rector of the Holy Trinity.
